

Report on:

10th Asia Pacific Networking Group (APNG) Camp

27th – 30th August 2007

Xi'AN China

I would like to thank all the organizers of APNG for arranging such a magnificent camp in Xian, China. Despite the barrier of Chinese language the management through the help of local leaders managed it quite effectively.

This was the first time that I had the opportunity of both attending the camp. This multinational camp was really wonderful experience both for young and experienced leaders working all around the globe, Special thanks to Tommy Matsumoto / Sumith and KUNG.

APNG camp is a great learning platform for the young generation and a great networking opportunity for all of them.

I was selected both in the category of "Multimedia Competition" and "Internet Culture and Blog" further, I also chaired the session of Track 1.

Different keynote speeches from professional were quite interesting as different professors and professionals briefed their projects. Mr. Chiang Chaio provoked our thought process of thinking beyond traditional .com to upcoming .asia.

Cultural evening and opera was among the highlights of the event as these two helped the participants to get to know each other and overcoming their cultural barriers.

I later also joined the Dumbo and Live E! Project teams and chalked out the plan for implementation the Live E! Project in Pakistan.

Recommendations for future Camp

1. Leaders for the working groups for the future camps may be selected through voting rather than nominations from the camp chair.
2. A group chair should write a detailed report regarding his / her overall progress his achievements and challenges faced. It will help the new leaders assigned to the working groups.
3. The sessions should not be split into two tracks.
4. A separate working group for multimedia should be added in the camp which should be responsible for handling all the logos / images and promotional videos for that camp.
