

The 9th APNG Camp Report

August 27~31, the four days of 9th APNG Camp in Xi'an is an impressive experience for me. During these days, the participants of the camp worked and played together. We have spent a happy hour in the camp.

In the meetings, I have learned a lot from others' presentations with the topics including Internet Technology, Internet Culture and Blog, E-Learning and Live-E, Disaster Management and E-Health, E-Commerce and Business Start-up. We also discussed actively about the hot technology in Internet nowadays.

Through the activities such as costume party and the reception, we knew each other better and became good friends. The performances of the participants from different countries were really interesting and wonderful. That was also an efficient way for me to know more things about all these countries.

The team building was a good form for organizing participants. It made us communicate a lot in our team. We not only spent the entertainment time together, but also worked together for the team building topic and the presentation at last. Each team has done a good job in such a short time, which showed the strength of the team.

In additional, I have gone to some places in Xi'an such as The Terra Cotta Warriors and Horses, Huaqing Hot Springs and Big Wild Goose Pagoda, all of which left me a good memory.

At last, I have some suggestions for the next camp.

1. More participants from more countries will be good for the diversity of the camp.
2. The time arrangement should be more reasonable.
3. The team can be unfixed, which means the participants can join different teams during the days in the camp.
